Don't miss the supper at the court house Monday night.

Kelly Kash was in Frankfort Monday on business in the Court of Appeals.

MISS ABBIE BAILEY.

W. L. Eversole returned last week from Louisville where he had been buying a new fall stock of goods.

Capt. F. W. Fletcher and J. J. C. Bach are on upper Quick and this week looking after real estate interests.

Mrs. Polly Carpenter, of Quick sand was a visitor in Jackson Tuesday. She reports that her son, Kelly, who has been confined for several months with serious lung trouble, is very much improved.

O. H. Pollard has greatly improved his residence property by a handsome stone and iron fence and a stone pavement in front. This should be followed by many such improvements. McCarty & Moore were the contractors.

Articles of incorporation have been prepared and will be filed in few days for the Imperial Coal Company, which will have a capital of $50,000 and whose headquarters will be in Lexington. They have leased 1,000 acres of land in Breathitt county and will mine and ship coal for the market.

J. W. Cardwell, Master Commissioner of the Breathitt circuit court, was thrown from his buggy while on his way to the home of G. T. Strong, his son-in-law, last Saturday evening and seriously hurt about the head and shoulders. Dr. Swango was called and dressed the wounds and it is hoped that he will speedily recover.

Rev. G. E. Drushal, of Lost Creek, was in town Monday and called an executive meeting of the Breathitt county Sunday school officers and the work for the rest of this year was outlined. It is the purpose of this Sunday school association to hold conventions at Lambrie, Lost Creek, Crockettville and on Morg sometime in November.

Jesse T. Davis has moved from Hazard to Caney, where he has accepted a position with W. W. Holliday in the mercantile business. He will also be assistant postmaster at that place. He called in and had The News changed to his new address. He is one of six brothers, all of whom have been taking The News ever since the beginning of its publication, six years ago, one of whom, Flint, of Lost Creek, was one of the first subscribers.

Notice of Dissolution.

The partnership existing between Mike Robinson and J. W. Clemons, doing business as partners under the firm name of Robinson & Clemons, was dissolved September 26, Mr. Robinson retiring.

New Law Firm.

Attorneys Kelly Kash and Wm. L. Hurst, brothers, have formed a partnership for the practice of law in Breathitt and adjoining counties, the style of the firm being Kash & Kash. The senior member of the firm has been practicing in Jackson for the past five years in connection with J. J. C. Bach and has won a favorable reputation, while the junior member is a recent graduate of the law department of Central University, where he had the distinction of winning the honors of his class in two consecutive years. They will be associated with J. J. C. Bach.

Precinct Changes.

Orders Breathitt County Court, June term, 24th day of June, 1907. It is ordered that the voting place of voting precinct No. 4 be changed and the voting place be at or near the mouth of Little Frozen, near the old Vanceville mill.

WOLFE COUNTY.

Campton.

Born, on September 27, to the wife of Jack Adams, of Meadow creek, a thirteen-day girl.

S. S. Combs, a former leading citizen of Campton, but now of Richmond, is spending a few days here.

Mrs. Lewis Collier, of near here, who has been seriously ill for the past few days, is reported better.

A marriage license was issued on September 30 to D. B. Brewer and Lou Emma Pence, both of this county.

A local skating club has been organized here and they are holding forth temporarily in the Cable & Drake building.

Three murder cases have been disposed of during the present term of the Wolfe circuit court and resulted as follows: Scott McQuinn, acquittal; George Dykes, hung jury; Martin Fugate, hung jury.

C. C. Fulk and Joel Gevedon and their families left here Monday for southwest Texas where they expect to make their future homes. We are told that H. H. Combs and wife joined the party at Winchester.

The funeral of John Brown, who was killed in Breathitt county by a saw log two years ago, was preached on Laurel Creek Sunday. Mr. Brown was a thriving business man and highly respected throughout this section. Many of Campton's citizens attended the funeral.

Announcement.

To the voters of the 92nd Legislative District of Kentucky, composed of the counties of Breathitt, Magoffin and Lee, I desire to announce that I am a candidate for the office of Representative in said district, subject to the action of the Democratic party. If I am granted the nomination, I will make a thorough canvass of the district and feel sure that I will be elected, and if elected I will represent the best interests of all the district. I was born and reared in Breathitt county and now live in Magoffin county, and am identified with the best interests of the mountain people.

THE HALL OF FAME.

After being six minutes under water Amadee Martel, a schoolboy of Northboro, Mass., was recovered and resuscitated.

William A. Breene, a laborer of Washington, Pa., was so overcome by the news that he had inherited $100,000 that he died of the shock.

President Roosevelt has written to Dr. Jackson, secretary of the American committee which is erecting a monument to Calvin in Geneva, Switzerland, accepting the presidency of the committee.

George W. McKenney, who has been for seven years postmaster of North Sebago, is, it is said, the oldest postmaster in Maine. Although he is eighty-two years old, he manages the office in a satisfactory manner.

Joseph Knight, since 1883 editor of Notes and Queries and dramatic critic of the Globe, Athenaeum and other periodicals, died in London at the age of seventy-eight years. He was the author of many theatrical works.

J. W. Beers of West View, Pa., has one of the most valuable libraries of shorthand works in the world. He has books and pamphlets on the subject by the thousands, and they include practically all the systems invented since the year 1700.

Alonso Smith of Skowhegan, Me., has an old gun which was used in the battle of Bunker Hill, 131 years ago, by his great-grandfather. The gun is in working order, bearing the loss of the flint, and could be easily equipped for actual use.

Duke Ulrich of Wurttemberg deals in cakes and oatmeal, and in conjunction with Prince Christian Hohenzollern, he manufactures corsets, sold under the name of "Hohenzollern corsets," which have a vast sale among south German ladies on account of their princely trademark.

Since his retirement from public life Hon. William S. Foran, who used to be in congress from the East St. Louis (Ill.) district and who afterward was commissioner of internal revenue, has built up a large and lucrative law practice in East St. Louis, of which he has been for many years a leading citizen.

Asa G. Candler of Atlanta has subscribed $75,000 to the Wesleyan memorial enterprise, launched by the big ops of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the South. Mr. Candler is one of the wealthiest men in the south. Thirty-two years ago he tramped to Atlanta from his country home in the state, his only asset being the clothes he wore.

His Turn to Be Annoyed.
President McCrea of the Pennsylvania railroad said, apropos of a false charge against a financial institution:

This charge was more than refuted. The institution came out with flying colors. It reminds me of an incident that happened when I was a roddman in my youth. Working on the Connelville line, I took a number of meals with a middle aged farmer and his wife. One day at dinner I noticed that the farmer's wife seemed rather out of sorts, and after dinner I wasn't surprised to hear her say:

"Josiah Simmons, to think that you have forgotten that this is the anniversary of our wedding!"

Old Josh flushed guiltily, looking up from his paper with a start. Then he said in a surprised voice:

"Why, mother, you must be mistaken. We were married on the 8th."

The wife bit her lip.

"Oh, excuse me," she said. "I was thinking of my first marriage anniversary."

His Garbage.
The wife of a millionaire recently expressed her preference for fancy dress parties as follows: "It was at one that I first met my husband. He appeared in the garbage of a monk."

What to Do With Surplus Milk.
A teacher was trying to impress on the young folks the various uses of milk. She wanted some bright genius to tell how the farmer fed the surplus milk to the pigs. Leading up to this, she asked this question, "Now, children, after the farmer has made all the butter and cheese he needs and uses what milk he wants for his family, what does he do with the milk that still remains?" One little hand waved frantically. The teacher smiled and said, "Well, James?"

"He pours it back into the cow," piped James—Woman's Home Companion.

The Widows Objected.

The editor of a little western paper was in the habit of cheering up his subscribers daily with a column of short pertinent comments on their town, their habits and themselves. The department on account of its intimate personal flavor was the most popular in the paper.

On a hot day, when a simoom whistled gayly up the streets of the town, depositing everywhere its burden of sand, the editor brought forth this gem of thought:

The next morning he was waited on by a platoon of indignant citizens, who confronted him with the paragraph in question fresh from the hands of the compositor and informed him fiercely that he had gone too far. After a hasty and horrified glance he admitted that he had.

It now read:

Modern Woman

Where Men Are Independent.

Miss Marie Corelli has been sending another bomb into the camp of the masculine sex. This is what she says: "The majority of the men of the present day want women to keep them." There is more, but that is the text from which she preaches. Now, Miss Corelli is English, and we judge from the tenor of her remarks that she is not acquainted with the mettle of our independent American men. One of the foreign critic's chief accusations against them is the abject attitude they take where women are concerned. Of them it may truly be said that they are slaves to the women of their family. The average American man worships them, waits upon them and slaves for them in office or factory—even to the death. If he can get millions it is for his women folk, of whom it may be said that they seldom half appreciate his devotion. No, indeed, our American men are not as Miss Corelli sees them. When she preached her little sermon she must have had in mind some of her own flabby English noblemen who are always so anxious to play tame cats to our helmsmen.

Sympathy is a good deal overdone. Of course, there are times when a word of sympathy may mean a soul's salvation, but these occasions are rarer than we have been led to believe. To get much sympathy is enervating. It is absolutely harmful. Take the woman who has just quarreled with her dearest friend. The trouble is probably due to some triviality, and if let alone the two would soon kiss and make up. As it is, some well meaning but misguided third person steps in with sympathy. Now, an exploited grievance is unlike a rolling stone—it gathers volume in its travels. The little rift in the late if too much discussed from the sympathetic standpoint is so magnified that the object of the misplaced compassion fancies herself a much wronged person, and what was originally a tiny rift becomes a life-long estrangement. Ah, yes, sympathy is a dangerous thing to play with.

Miss Mary Bateson, the English historical writer, in a newly published book has made some interesting disclosures in regard to woman's position under the mediaeval common law. In many old English towns women were allowed to hold lands in their own right and to dispose of them by will as they pleased. Women in business were governed by special liberal regulations, the law recognizing no difference between a man and woman in this respect. Indeed, there is much in these old town laws that is enlightening and helpful to the new woman seeking legal rights. Although many a male jurist has delved as deeply into the ancient documents as Miss Bateson, it is characteristic that it should be a woman who brought these facts to light. In solving the woman question it seems quite necessary to make a practical application of Miles Standish's advice, "If you want a thing well done, do it yourself."

Women "boss" the town of Piona, in the canton of St. Gall, Switzerland. Recently the men of the place petitioned that a cafe might be opened in the town. The women said no; they did not want the men of their families getting into the bad habit of staying out late at night. The masculine portion of the population held secret indignation meetings and decided to give even. One and all made a point of posting off each evening to the nearest village where there was a cafe. They arrived home in the wee sma' hours and met their wrathful women folk with the calm assurance that when the essential cafe was established nearer home they would be able to keep better hours. The women finally weakened, and the Piona cafe was licensed under the condition that it should be closed by a certain hour.

Time for school to open! With what regret the small boy admits it; with what joyful satisfaction the harassed mother welcomes it! Johnny is near enough six to get into the school, and his tender parent, knowing his untamed spirit, rejoices. She has little ones enough to look after, and, some way, when a boy reaches the fatal age of six, he outgrows the restrictions of home. He needs a less affectionate and partial overseer than mother, and his school associates are just the ones to take the nonsense out of him, even if they do work havoc with the painfully acquired lacquer of manners taken on under the fond maternal direction.

Miss Helen Gould's latest philanthropy is the purchase of 100,000 acres near Greeley, Colo. It is to be cut up to form farm colonies for poor tenement families. She paid about $350,000 for the land and will spend $100,000 more for implements, seed or anything else needed to start the farmers to work.

Miss Inez Cooley of Los Angeles county, Cal., deals in honey. She keeps a bee ranch and makes enough money to afford a three months' vacation in Europe.

Woman's World

Teaching Children to Be Ambitious—Becoming Wise as to Food Values—How to Avoid Indigestion in Young Children.

"Can't she be made to have it?" I inquired.

"That isn't up to me," the little woman answered. "I have a very large class of scholars. I can't make over their dispositions. That is home work for the mother. Children are born lazy. It is the mother's province to awaken interest and energy in them. If the good work is not done when they are young they will never possess any impulse to rise in the world. I know perfectly good mothers who mean well, but because they allow their children to be satisfied with themselves and with their surrounding conditions these children have no more ambition than clams."

"But isn't teaching them to be discontented?" I put in.

"They should be discontented up to a certain point. To stand still means to go back. Besides, we were intended to progress. Each generation should do better than the last—should make itself stronger in every point. If mothers only would say to their children: 'Here, Johnny or Susie, as the case may be, you have this talent. If you cultivate it you will amount to this or that.' Or 'You have this bad fault. If you don't get rid of it now you will never succeed in the world. It will always hurt you.' But they hardly ever do talk that way. It's only lazy discontent that does harm. The discontent that pushes and pulls and shoves and makes things better is a noble instinct that a mother should put in the heart of every child. Not to have ambition is to be dead to half the purpose of life."

As to Food Values.

The head teacher of a cooking school says she would like to revise the curriculum of girls' schools. She would introduce a course, not of cooking, as some of the girls might never find that use, but of food values, which every

"SHE HAS NO AMBITION." woman should be aware of, whether she keeps ten servants or one general house worker.

"He might have lived to a ripe old age if he had had decent food," asserted the family doctor in speaking of a young man with a delicate constitution. "It wasn't that he didn't have enough. He had more than was good for him, but everything was swimming in grease or fixed up with rich sauces. What he needed was rare meat, fruit and crackers. As it was, his overworked stomach rebelled all the time, and his unmanly condition hastened his end."

It is possible to set a good table cheaply and a very bad one most expensively. Rice is cheap, beans are cheap, salads and plain meats are reasonable. On the other hand, puddings are expensive, rich cakes and doughnuts certainly are, and hot bread and biscuits consume quantities of flour and eggs.

Take one instance which came to my notice: At a certain woman's house they had for dinner roast stuffed veal and spinach with ham and other greasy things. Now, spinach with ham costs more than plain spinach certainly, and the roast veal with its dressing which meat gives hardly any nourishment came to more than a good steak would.

It's decidedly a woman's business to learn what is most nourishing at the price for the members of her family as well as what they should eat to build up their different weaknesses.

Well to Remember.

"You would be surprised to know how many cases of colic grow out of the baby's milk not being given to it not enough," said the nurse. "Give the milk as hot to the child as you can stand it squirted on your own arm. Some lazy mother lets a baby suck at a cold bottle which has been left in the crib, and then she wonders why she has to walk the floor to silence its screams. Serves her right! Warm the bottle piping hot every time and the baby won't have any cramps."

THE CAMPAIGN.

As the time of the election draws nearer to hand and the advocates of the various candidates and policies tour the State, the better the people become acquainted with the issues confronting them. And to the casual observer, as the issues are being formed and moulded there appears a great contrast between the candidates and measures of the two dominant parties.

When the Republican party in convention at Louisville nominated candidates for the various State offices, it sent broadcast over the State for the perusal and consideration of the people a bill of resolutions setting forth the policies to be carried out in the management of the affairs of the State. Among the most important features of this bill, it advocates the repeal of the registration law in the small towns, for a non-partisan judiciary, for disclosures in matters of political contributions, a fair and honest redistricting of the State, prompt and efficient enforcement of the criminal laws for the protection of life and property, honesty in the management of the financial affairs of the State, reform in the control and management of the charitable institutions of the State, for uniform local option law with the county as the unit, for measures taking the public schools out of politics and for a better school system.

Upon this platform the Republican party in that convention nominated candidates of uprightness, honesty and high character. Nothing can be truthfully charged against any of its candidates, and they are making the present campaign upon the principles above enumerated. If the principles advocated are pure and upright and the candidates nominated are believed and known to be honest men and men of character, then it must be supposed that government under such candidates in fulfillment of such principles should be desired by any people.

On the other hand, the people are all familiar with the manner in which the so-called Democratic candidates received their nominations, and also they know that the Democratic party has no declaration of principles. Take, for instance, the Democratic nominee for Governor, Mr. Hager. Eight years ago he was nominee for State Treasurer. And it may be said here this was the beginning of the awful dark era of corrupt Democratic politics in Kentucky. This was the campaign which resulted in the election of the Republican candidates by about 3,000 majority, and when by the awful machinations of the nefarious election law in the contest before the legislative committee the Democratic candidates were seated in office. Four years later, possibly as a reward for his service in behalf of the new machine, Mr. Hager was nominated by the Democratic party, or rather by the machine, for State Auditor. After a spirited campaign in which it was believed that the Republican candidates were really elected, Mr. Hager was declared elected to that office, and now holds the office. Soon after his election to this office it became apparent that he would become a candidate for Governor, and it soon developed that he was the candidate of the machine and his nomination appeared inevitable. Old line Democrats and men who had fostered and supported the party in its struggling days were denied countenance of the new party manipulators and their hopes were scattered and ground to dust. A great contest was waged in the ranks of the Democratic party but when the primary came and went it was seen that the upright and honest candidates for office were to be relegated and the new machine manipulators were elevated to power. They were nominated by a so-called primary, but up to this day there has been no Democratic platform announced and no declaration of principles. Then what may the people expect of the candidates on the present Democratic ticket when they promise nothing and offer candidates of questionable candor?

What can our people promise themselves by electing Mr. Hager and his associates, when it is apparent and undeniable that they have corrupted every branch of our State government and attacked our very laws and liberty?

Men of Breathitt county, voters to whomsoever this message may go, we appeal to you to awaken today as never before to the sacred duty of protecting your honor, your happiness and your homes.

If you like the dog tax, vote for Beckham, Hager & Co.

Willson is a winner. He is against all the obnoxious tax laws.

If you want a Carnes soldier to search you, vote for Beckham Hager & Co.

If you are in favor of taxing everything from a dog to a diamond, vote for Beckham, Hager & Co.

Beckham is responsible for the Bill Carnes court. If you want to continue the Carnes courts vote for Hager, Beckham & Co.

Don't listen to the appeals of the machine gang to return and vote them in again. They will treat you like they did in 1901, 1903 and 1905.

If the machine gang want the good citizens of Breathitt county to vote the Democratic ticket they must give them something better than Beckham, Hager & Co. to vote for. The gang should have allowed the Democrats to vote in the primary last year. Mr. Democrat did you get to vote in the primary last year? Did you see any ballots on Quicksand or on Troublesome creeks?

Canary Wrote an Editorial.

A story is told that there was in the office of the old New York Tribune only one compositor who could read Horace Greeley's writing. Mr. Greeley, the ablest of editors, was likewise the poorest penman of them all. One day some of the other men in the office, in order to get a joke on the old editor, took a canary bird and, dipping its feet and tail in writing ink, allowed it to hop around on a piece of paper, which was later hung where Mr. Greeley was in the habit of leaving the copy he wished the old compositor to set up. The compositor looked at it, put it up on his case and went to work as if there was nothing unusual about it. Finally, about halfway down the page, he appeared to be stuck. He readjusted his glasses and looked and looked at the copy and finally went with it to the desk of Mr. Greeley. "Here's a word I can't make out," said he.

Mr. Greeley looked sharply at the copy a moment, so the story goes, and then said, "That word is constitution; go ahead."

Crockettsville.

Mrs. Evaline McDaniel and Master Beach were visiting Mrs. Martha McDaniel Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lewis and daughter, of Miller Branch, visited W. G. Stamper Sunday.

A part of the base ball team of Buckhorn played the team of Long's creek Sunday and lost by three scores.

The infant daughter of Keenas Deaton died Sunday night of spinal trouble. The bereaved family has the sympathy of your correspondent.

It is reported that dogs have been killing sheep near Uncle Bud Stamper's, on the Riley fork of Long's creek. It is said a suit will be filed for damages.

Mrs. Alice Stamper was calling on Uncle John B. Lewis Tuesday for a second treatment in mental and magnetic healing, and reports that she is improving and says she thinks that she will get well.

Miss Elizabeth Bowling, who is teaching the Sandlin school district, is doing her duty as a teacher. While she has had some pupils who are rather hard to control, she is to be commended for the efforts she has made in observing good order and Christian piety in her manner of teaching.

Ned.

Simpson Noble, of Tenmile, is improving.

The Mountain Association, held on Leatherwood, passed off very quietly.

H. A. Miller and Wm. Noble, better known as "Little Billie," went to Jackson Monday on business.

Mrs. Wm. Miller died at her home near Ned last week of cancer. She leaves a husband and four children.

Perry Noble, son of James B. Noble, and Alex Noble, son of Billie Noble, were arrested Saturday for shooting their revolvers and were taken to Jackson for trial. They were fined $25 each and placed in jail.

Lost Creek.

The work of the new school which we have opened up at Lost Creek is very encouraging. The attendance the first week was not large, but better than was anticipated and others came in later. All common school branches are taught and any high school or academic work which is demanded.

Many are planning to enter as soon as the fall crops are laid by. They should try and arrange to come as soon as possible in order to put in a thorough term's work. The tuition is only $1 per month, but this cheap tuition does not mean cheap, inferior instruction. We shall insist on each student being thoroughly prepared for promotion before passing from one grade to a higher. They will thus have a good foundation for future work.

An industrious boy can find work to be done at the institute which will enable him to pay for much of his tuition. He can go to school one month for one day's work. Here is a chance for some bright boy to take advantage of. All honor to the boy or girl who works.

Two more teachers will soon be added to the faculty. This will increase the efficiency of the work. We have already a good working library and quite a number of other new books are on the way. Additions will be made from time to time. A Bible school will be opened up in connection with the institute at the beginning of the winter term. Every student will be expected to take at least a part of this work, for we believe educating the head and not the heart tends to develop a one-sided, abnormal man or woman. Any one not a regular student, but wishing to take advantage of this Bible work, may do so free of cost.

Any one wishing further information concerning any department of this school, write to G. E. Drushal, Lost Creek, Ky.

Mr. Kraft-Henry, while you're at the telephone just tell my wife I'll bring Mr. Topnotch home to dinner with me tonight. Clerk-Beg pardon, sir, but Mr. Topnotch is out of town today and won't be back. Kraft-Henry-I know it, but I feel as if I'd like to have just one good square meal.

NOLAND, ESTILL COUNTY.

J. A. Fry, our mail carrier, has been to Frankfort for two weeks visiting.

S. B. Garrett, living near here, was very busy last week making sorghum molasses.

Misses Elizabeth Walton and Tressie Crow were the guests of Miss Elizabeth Winkler Sunday.

The Odd Fellows of Drip Rock dedicated their new hall last Saturday. Dinner was served on the ground and a good crowd was in attendance.

In a Pretty Bad Fix.

Several men, belonging to different nationalities happened to meet. The Englishman asked the Scotchman, "What would you be, if you weren't a Scotchman?" "I guess I'd be an Englishman," answered the Scotchman. "And what would you be, if you weren't an Englishman?" asked the Scotchman. "I suppose I'd be a Scotchman," positively replied the Englishman. "What would you be if you weren't a Spaniard?" demanded the Italian. "Oh, I guess I'd be an Italian," answered the Spaniard. And so they went on making each other the same complimentary answer. At last came the Irishman's turn. "What would you be, if you weren't an Irishman?" he was asked. "Oh, I'd be ashamed of myself," he quickly answered.

Shortly after hearing this anecdote I visited an old man named John Graham. Curious to know what answer he would make to the question, I related the anecdote. "And now, Mr. Graham," I asked the venerable Irishman, "what would you be, if you weren't an Irishman?" His answer was made in a jiffy, without thought of making a joke of it: "Faix, I'd be in a pretty bad fix!"—A. M. G.

PUBLIC SALE.

My new fall millinery is now on display at my store, corner Main and Broadway. I have the latest designs in ladies' hats, bonnets, dress goods and ladies' furnishing goods. Come early and get your choice. Yours respectfully,

MISS ABBIE BAILEY.

The Fiscal Court.

Fiscal court was in session during the week and it has been busy looking after the fiscal affairs.

The allowance for the various paupers amounted to about $900. The poll tax for 1908 was levied at $1.00 and the ad valorem at 50 cents.

The financial condition of the county is in splendid shape, as all the leaks have been stopped. More than $10,000 have been paid on the old indebtedness left by the former administration. The county affairs is now run on a cash basis and the claim shavers and dis-counters have been relegated to the rear. When the county buys anything it gets value received, just like an individual. A few years ago you could not tell what a county claim was worth. You almost had to take whatever you could get, although the taxes were then higher than now.

The claims for merchandise this year is in the neighborhood of $400, when in 1905 they amounted to almost $3,000.

A county's affairs should be managed just like an individual's. Get what you pay for and pay no more than the article is worth.

Republicans Lead.

At the registration here Tuesday 257 votes were registered, of which 129 were Republican, 126 Democratic and 2 Independent. Several registered as Democrats who will certainly vote for Will-son and his ticket.

Bailey-Baskett.

Wm. M. Bailey, of Jackson, and Miss Margaret Baskett, of Winchester, were married in this city last Saturday. The groom is express agent at Jackson and was born in this county. He is an excellent and popular young man. His bride is a very attractive and popular girl—Mt. Sterling Gazette. They returned here Sunday where they will make their future home.

Easy to Mix This.

What will appear very interesting to many people is the article taken from a New York daily paper, giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder derangement, in the following simple prescription, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sassa-parilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here at home, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic afflictions with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering. Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

A protracted meeting will begin at the Christian church October 20, to continue about two weeks.

Case Continued.

The contempt case of Ed Callahan was called at Winchester last Friday. The Commonwealth's Attorney asked the court to continue the case, as Mrs. Rebecca Bailey, of Leslie county, was ill and could not attend court. Judge Benton then continued the case until the 19th of December and stated that if the Commonwealth was not ready for trial at that time the case would be dismissed.

Sent to Reform School.

James Duff, a boy eleven years old, was sentenced to the House of Reform for eight years by Judge Taulbee last Monday for breaking into the house of J. J. C. Bach and taking a gold watch.

Judge W. H. Blanton and wife were called to see their son, James Blanton, who was quite sick last week. He is now improving. He was taken suddenly with a pain in his shoulder while working on his log job on South Quicksand.

Change in Firm.

The Jett-Spencer Distilling Co. has bought the store, building, stock, &c., of Floyd Day at Oakdale and will continue the business. Matt and George Spencer will be the managers. Matt Spencer had managed the store for Floyd Day for ten years and is well acquainted with the business.

Judge J. S. Morris, of Oldham county, has been appointed special judge of the Scott circuit court to try the case of Caleb Powers for the Goebel murder.

There Is No Financial Panic In Sight.

By LESLIE M. SHAW, Former Secretary of the Treasury.

OUR farms produce more than $6,500,000,000 per annum, and THE PROSPECT IS GOOD for an average crop. Our mines yield more than $1,500,000,000 and our forests more than $1,000,000,000. And neither of these sources of wealth has been exhausted. The output of our factories in other than food products is approximately $12,000,000,000, and no fires have been extinguished.

The railways earn more than $2,000,000,000, and THEY ARE ALL IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION. The payrolls of our factories and railways aggregate approximately $3,500,000,000, and the scale of wages has not been reduced.

IN OTHER WORDS, THE REAL SOURCES OF THE PEOPLE'S WEALTH HAVE NOT YET BEEN AFFECTED, AND THE ABILITY OF INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS TO PAY DIVIDENDS IS NOT MEASURED BY THE MARKET PRICE OF THEIR STOCKS.

By HENRY C. FRICK of the United States Steel Corporation.

I FIND NOTHING IN UNDERLYING CONDITIONS TO WARRANT THE APPARENT GREAT LACK OF CONFIDENCE IN BUSINESS GENERALLY WHICH NOW SEEMS PREVALENT. IF THERE IS ANYTHING TO JUSTIFY THAT FEELING IN TRADE CONDITIONS, I DO NOT SEE IT.

I can understand the VAGUE, BUT REAL UNSETTLEMENT OF SENTIMENT created by current agitation against corporations, but this is in a measure apart from real conditions and is capable of correction. I believe myself, and always have, in the correction of ABUSES, WHETHER CORPORATE OR INDIVIDUAL, but I feel that such care should be exercised in doing this that only the wrongdoer should suffer.

Of course where corporations are still acting outside of the law UNKNOWNLY it is to be expected that they should be set right, but I am sure they can be accomplished without harm to any one and without the least injury to credit, if the situation is PROPERLY AND INTELLIGENTLY HANDLED by the administration.

By JOSEPH G. CANNON, Speaker of the National House of Representatives.

BOSH, ALL BOSH! THAT'S WHAT IT IS, THIS TALK OF FINANCIAL RUIN. THE COUNTRY NEVER WAS BETTER, AND I GUESS THESE WALL STREET FELLOWS ARE SQUEALING BECAUSE THEY'VE BEEN STUNG.

With me it's simply a question of whether the bulls eat the bears or the bears eat the bulls. There happens to be A FEW MILLION FARMERS in this country of ours, and they are not bothering about this cry of financial panic. They're busy harvesting their crops.

NO FEAR, THE FARMERS WILL BE BUYING MORE AUTOMOBILES THIS FALL, AND INSTEAD OF DISASTER THERE WILL BE MORE REAL PROSPERITY THAN EVER BEFORE. REAL PROSPERITY, I SAID, NOT THE WALL STREET KIND.

By WILLIAM B. RIDGELY, Comptroller of the Currency.

The announcement made by Secretary Cortelyou of his plan for relieving the strain on the money market by the deposit of government funds is VERY WISE AND TIMELY and should go very far toward allaying apprehension and restoring business to its normal condition.

WHILE THE PRESENT SITUATION IS ONE REQUIRING CARE AND COOL HEADED, DELIBERATE ACTION, ESPECIALLY ON THE PART OF THE BANKS, THERE IS NO REASON AT ALL WHY THE DEMAND FOR LIQUIDATION SHOULD SO SPREAD AS TO PRODUCE ANYTHING LIKE A PANIC OR COMMERCIAL CRISIS.

The banking condition is UNUSUALLY SOUND, more so on account of the readjustment of stock market values.

CIVILIZATION AND PAPER.

Our supremacy in civilization is established, and it is France, the mother of enlightenment, that has established it for us.

The Revue Scientifique of Paris applies a very simple formula by way of civilization test. Every nation is sized up according to the amount of paper it uses.

In the matter of paper production this country leads with an annual output of 639,734 tons. Germany follows with 393,683 tons; England, 246,051 tons; France, 196,942 tons; Austria, 147,706 tons, and Italy, 123,026 tons. Naturally the mere production of paper cannot be taken as a correct standard, although it is suggestive, for every country exports more or less paper.

The amount of paper used in this country every year for each inhabitant is 38.6 pounds; in England, 34.3 pounds; Germany, 29.9 pounds; France, 20.5 pounds; Austria, 19 pounds; Italy, 15.4 pounds. The lowest European consumption is found in Serbia, with 1.1 pounds per capita. China uses the same amount. The lowest paper consumption in the world is in India, with only .22 pound per inhabitant.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Earth as a Bell.

Studies of the violent earthquake which occurred in the Balkan peninsula April 4, 1904, made by Dr. Emilio Oddone, professor in the University of Pavia, show that the shocks were transmitted through the entire body of the earth and were reflected from the antipodes back to their place of origin in about thirty-three minutes. Comparing the records of other great earthquakes, Dr. Oddone concludes that the average time required for a vibration to traverse the globe and return by reflection is from thirty-two to thirty-three minutes. The earth thus appears to be not altogether unlike a great bell suspended in space and vibrating throughout its whole mass under strokes, which, comparatively speaking, are no more than the tapping of a finger nail. Dr. Oddone calls attention to the interesting coincidence between the time taken for a vibration to traverse the globe and that required for light to cross the diameter of the earth's orbit.—Youth's Companion.

At the Circus.

Zeke and Keturah had been keeping company for nearly a year, but up to date Zeke had not had the courage to propose. The opportunity came, though, one summer afternoon when they were at the circus. After seeing the sights they rested on a bale of hay in an obscure corner of the menagerie tent.

"What do you reckon is the most strange thing we see?" said Keturah. "It's hard to say, but I know what I'd like to see now," replied Zeke in a tender voice. "The flying trapeze man?" she ventured. "No, not him."

"Mebbe the ringmaster?" "Nor him. You recollect the octopus in the glass tank? Well, I'd like to see that."

"Why?" "Cos he'd sigh out a hundred arms, and I'd like to use 'em all a-bug-gin' you a hundred times at once and protect you from all sides for the rest of yer life."—Ladies' Home Journal.

We have secured the agency for Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup, the new laxative that makes the liver lively, purifies the breath, cures headache and regulates the digestive organs. Cures chronic constipation. Ask us about it. Jackson Drug Co.

"I freely and frankly admit," remarked Mr. Meekton, "that I owe everything to my wife." "And she occasionally reminds you of the fact?" "Well, I must admit that she is not the easiest creditor in the world."—Washington Star.

The Price of Health. "The price of health in a malarious district is just 25 cents; the cost of a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills," writes Ella Skayton, of Noland, Ark. New Life Pills cleanse gently and impart new life to the vigor and system. 25c. Satisfaction guaranteed by the Jackson Drug Co.

Factions Student—Excuse me, professor, but were any of these cannibal vegetarians? The Professor—Probably not at that time. But if the class before me had visited these flesh eaters the latter might have speedily acquired a taste for cabbage heads and fresh greens.

This Is Worth Remembering. As no one is immune, every person should remember that Foley's Kidney Cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. Jackson Drug Co.

Uncle Sam Not Going Into Business.

By Attorney General BONAPARTE.

THE GOVERNMENT HAS NO IDEA OF GOING INTO THE BUSINESS OF RUNNING THE TRUSTS. THE RECEIVERSHIP APPLICATION FOR THE SO CALLED TOBACCO TRUST IS MERELY A MEANS OF RELIEF, JUST AS ANY RECEIVER MIGHT BE CALLED UPON TO ADMINISTER A CORPORATION IN THE JURISDICTION OF THE COURT FOR THE PURPOSE OF ATTAINING CERTAIN TEMPORARY ENDS. IT IS TRUE THAT IT IS A NEW DEPARTURE IN EQUITY PRACTICE, BUT THERE ARE ANALOGIES WHICH SUSTAIN IT.

The theory is that if a court of equity finds a corporation or cluster of corporations engaged in an UNLAWFUL business it will utilize all of its ACCUSTOMED AGENCIES to put an end to this unlawful business, because of the illegality of the business.

The court is to be asked to appoint an officer who will TEMPORARILY conduct the affairs of the corporation or corporations involved, so as to gradually eliminate the unlawful features while PRESERVING SO FAR AS POSSIBLE THE LEGITIMATE INTERESTS OF ALL CONCERNED from injury during the process of adjustment.

The prayer for this relief, if sustained by the courts, will, it is hoped, prove a PRACTICAL AND EFFECTIVE method of insuring obedience to the law in cases where there seems to be much danger of evasion.

Society Women Ought To Be Working.

By Mrs. HETTY GREEN, Leading Woman Financier.

YOUNG girls of today are TOO EXTRAVAGANT. They think too much about clothes, and they don't have enough to do. If they had some USEFUL WORK to occupy their thoughts they would not run to such extravagance.

I speak from experience. I was quite a belle when I was young. But I outgrew all that sort of thing. These RAINBOW SILKS AND METAL FINGERS are not to my taste. I used to wear those things. I used to have more fixings and trimmings on me than there is on a Christmas tree. I have more sense now.

SOCIETY HASN'T ENOUGH TO DO TO KEEP IT OUT OF MISCHIEF. THESE SO CALLED FASHIONABLE WOMEN SPEND ALL THEIR TIME THESE DAYS AT BRIDGE AND SMOKING CIGARETTES AND DRINKING PALE TEA AND STRONG WHISKY. EVERY ONE OF THEM OUGHT TO BE WORKING.

Railroads Weighed In the Balance and Found Wanting.

By Secretary of War WILLIAM H. TAFT.

THE railroads until now have been admitted to yield WITHOUT ANY REAL COERCION the enormously important franchise of carrying transportation to the entire country. They have constructed 230,000 miles of road. They have done A MARVELOUS WORK and have afforded transportation at a cheaper rate per ton per mile and per passenger than in any other country in the world.

THEY HAVE, HOWEVER, MANY OF THEM, SHAMELESSLY VIOLATED THE TRUST OBLIGATION THEY HAVE BEEN UNDER TO THE PUBLIC OF FURNISHING EQUAL FACILITIES AT THE SAME PRICE TO ALL SHIPPERS.

THE WATERING OF STOCKS AND BONDS AND THE OVERCAPITALIZATION OF SOME OF THEM for the profit of their managers have prevented the NEEDED improvement of their railroads in construction and equipment. The tremendous demand for increased facilities due to the enormous growth of business shows the INADEQUACY of their equipment and construction. While they might not have been expected to meet in full such an extraordinary demand, the obligations some of them have assumed in the form of stocks and bonds leave no doubt that had the money they represented been put into the roads IN GOOD FAITH the shortage of cars and equipment and inadequacy of roadbed and track would not be so great. They discharge a public function.

THEY HAVE BEEN WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE AND FOUND WANTING. THE REMEDY FOR THE EVILS MUST BE RADICAL TO BE EFFECTIVE. IF IT IS NOT SO, THEN WE MAY CERTAINLY EXPECT THAT THE MOVEMENT TOWARD GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP WILL BECOME A FORMIDABLE ONE THAT CANNOT BE STAYED.

"But," asked the proprietor of the Bongton apartments, "do you think this man is the best one you can get for janitor?" "The best ever!" replied the manager. "He has been an ice-man, a coalman and a street car conductor. He's as sassy and impudent as he can be."—Philadelphia Press.

Doing Business Again. "When my friends thought I was about to take leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., "and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say that they are curing me. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily." Best tonic medicine on earth. Guaranteed by Jackson Drug Co. 50c.

The New Pure Food and Drug Law. We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for cough, colds and lung trouble is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug Law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. Jackson Drug Co.

Patagonia was so styled by Magellan in accordance with the Spanish word patagon, meaning a large, clumsy foot. It was from the fact of seeing the impressions of the large shoes—not, as he imagined, the feet—of the aborigines that he concluded the country must be inhabited by giants.

Pneumonia Follows A Cold. But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals and strengthens the lungs and prevents pneumonia. Jackson Drug Co.

The Sultan of Turkey has a wonderful collection of animals which he keeps on an island at Yildiz. They include stags, roeders, gazelles, rare goats and sheep and birds of every kind. A special kiosk is given up to dogs, and there is also a special cat house.

Dancing Proves Fatal. Many men and women catch colds at dances which terminate in pneumonia and consumption. After exposure, if Foley's Honey and Tar is taken it will break up a cold and no serious results need be feared. Refuse any but the genuine in a yellow package. Jackson Drug Co.

Two of a Kind. A private in the regulars went to the colonel of his regiment and asked for a two weeks' leave of absence. The colonel was a severe disciplinarian and did not hesitate to use a subterfuge in evading the granting of privileges to his men.

"Well," said the colonel, "what do you want a two weeks' furlough for?" "Me wife is not well, and the children are not well, and, if ye didn't mind, she would like to have me home for a few weeks to give her a bit of assistance." "The colonel eyed him for a few minutes and said: "Patrick, I might grant your request, but I got a letter from your wife this morning saying she didn't want you home; that you were a nuisance whenever you were there. She hopes I

Women Who Do

Realizing a Childhood Dream—Busy Old Age—Keeping a Promise Under Difficulty—Women and the Trades Union League.

Early in October a quiet little woman will sail from San Francisco with all her modest luggage directed "Lai-chou-fou, China." Lai-chou-fou is an insignificant town in north China, to reach which one must travel from the coast three days in a donkey cart. Nevertheless she faces this perilous journey happily, for to her it means the realization of a childhood dream. She is going to see and help the people of China. The young woman is Miss Florence Jones of Springfield, Mo., a graduate of a St. Louis and New York training school for nurses. Recently two returned missionaries from China were among the patients at the sanitarium where she was employed, and so eloquent were the stories they told of the unhappy condition of women in China and the lack of medical aid that a number of wealthy persons subscribed the money to establish a hospital at Lai-chou-fou, where the need was said to be especially great. Miss Jones asked to be sent out to work in the hospital and was appointed its head, although she is only thirty years of age. She will, however, have only a staff of one other nurse to assist her.

Three Busy Old Ladies.

Three of the busiest, brainiest and cheeriest women in America are Mrs. Amelia Barr, Mrs. Harriet Mann Miller and Mrs. Mary Virginia Terhune. They are perhaps the most popular women writers in America and by a strange coincidence are all seventy-six years of age. Mrs. Barr celebrated her birthday on March 29 at her home, Cherry Croft, Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. Mrs. Miller, better known by her pen name of Olive Thorne Miller, observed hers on June 25 at her home in Brooklyn, while Mrs. Terhune, known the world over as Marion Harland, has hers to look forward to on Dec. 21, when it will probably be made a special festive occasion at her home, Sunnyside, Pompton, N. J. These three delightful women have never dipped their pens in the ink of the problem novel. Everything they have written has been bright, clean and wholesome, yet their popularity, past and present, casts in the shade anything achieved by the morbid women writers of the new school.

The Scrap Book

What Puzzled Him. A bishop in full robes of office, with his gown reaching to his feet, was teaching a Sunday school class. At the close he said he would be glad to answer any questions. "Can I ask?" said a little boy, raising his hand. "Certainly," said the bishop; "what is it?" "Is dem all you've got on, or do you wear pants under dem?" LOVE OF COUNTRY. Breathes the man with soul so dead Who never to himself hath said, "This is my own, my native land—Whose heart hath not within him burned As home his footsteps he hath turned? From wandering on a foreign strand? If such there breathe, go, mark him well; For him no minstrel raptures swell!" High though his titles, proud his name, Boundless his wealth as wish can claim; Despite those titles, power and name, The wretch, concentred all in self, Living shall forfeit fair renown, And doubly dying, shall go down To the vile dust from whence he sprung, Unwept, unhonored and unsung.—Scott.

The Vain Actor and the Little Bill. Lillian Russell tells the following story about a handsome and vain actor: "A letter of his was put in another man's box at a club one evening by mistake. The other man opened the letter, saw that it was a note from a tailor demanding instant payment of a bill long overdue, and in dismay sealed it up again neatly and put it in the box of its rightful owner. The rightful owner entered the smoking room that night with the letter in his hand. He ran it through, glanced around complacently, gave his mustache a twist and murmured: "Silly little girl!"

"Pneumonia's Deadly Work" had so seriously affected my right lung," writes Mrs. Fannie Connor, of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbor's prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the only REAL cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the REAL cure. Guaranteed by the Jackson Drug Co. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

The Thumbscrew Ordeal. William Carstairs, the Scotch divine who for fourteen years served William III. as confidential secretary and adviser in chief, had been implicated in the Rye House plot, a conspiracy to assassinate Charles II. and place Monmouth on the throne. He was put to the excruciating torture of the thumbscrew, or thumbscrews, which he endured heroically, without confessing or implicating others. After Carstairs became the private adviser of William he was presented with the instrument by which he had been tortured. The king, wishing to see the measure of fortitude necessary to endure the terrible torture without making a confession of some sort, placed his thumbs in the machine and told Carstairs to turn the screw. He turned slowly and cautiously. "It is unpleasant," said King William, "yet it might be endured. You are trifling with me. Turn the screw so that I may really feel pain similar to that you felt." Carstairs turned the screw sharply. The king cried out, and when released said that under such pain he would have confessed to anything, true or false.

Cured of Bright's Disease. Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmore, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all blated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hopes of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50 cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." Jackson Drug Co.
